

Supplementary File (S1) Focus group questions:

- 1) What are you currently using to manage your endometriosis pain and other associated symptoms? (probe for both pharmaceutical and non-pharmaceutical modalities such as heat and exercise).
- 2) How well are these working for you? (probe for effectiveness, and any barriers to usage, such as cost)
- 3) What are the two or three most bothersome symptoms you can identify associated with your diagnosis of endometriosis?
- 4) Have you ever previously used cannabis (legal or illicit) to manage any health-related conditions? (probe for stress, pain, mood disorders). What about CBD oil? If so, can you tell us about your experiences (probe for negative effects e.g., anxiety or tachycardia, as well as any positive effects).
- 5) Now that medicinal cannabis is legal (from a medical practitioner) for chronic pain such as is experienced in endometriosis, would this be something you might consider using as part of your management strategy?
- 6) Does the use of medicinal cannabis raise any religious, social or cultural concerns that may impact the way your family or people in your community view or treat you?
- 7) How concerned are you that using a legal medicinal cannabis product would limit your ability to drive, operate heavy machinery or impact your work if drug testing is conducted at your place of employment? Would this potentially limit your desire to want to use medicinal cannabis as a medical option for managing the symptoms of your endometriosis?
- 8) Would not being able to drive for a period of 16 weeks (12 weeks plus 1 month washout) be a serious limiting factor to your participation in a medicinal cannabis clinical trial?
- 9) Are there any other barriers to using medicinal cannabis of which you are aware? (probe for other issues such as cost etc.)
- 10) There are a number of ways that medicinal cannabis can be used, from inhaled (such as from a vapouriser) to taken orally (such as in a capsule), to being used as a pessary (inserted into the vagina) or suppository (inserted into the rectum). We would like to hear your thoughts on your preference for any of these options.
